Abstract:

In the realm of finance, Artificial Intelligence (AI) has spurred remarkable advancements but also ushered in complex financial scams and frauds. This paper navigates the intricate intersection of AI and financial malfeasance, examining how AI facilitates fraudulent activities like market manipulation, phishing, and deepfake technology. Detecting these frauds poses challenges due to AI's sophistication and opacity. However, innovative strategies such as enhanced cybersecurity measures, transparent AI models, and collaborative efforts offer hope in combating financial fraud. By understanding and addressing the risks posed by AI-enabled financial scams, we can safeguard the integrity of the financial ecosystem and ensure a more secure future.

Keywords: AI-driven scams, Fraudulent algorithms, Phishing with AI, AI-generated fake investments, Deceptive financial chatbots, AI-powered identity theft, Manipulative trading algorithms, Fake financial advice from AI, AI-driven social engineering, Automated scam calls with AI

Introduction:

The integration of artificial intelligence into the realm of finance holds immense potential for efficiency and innovation. However, this powerful fusion has also given rise to a novel breed of adversaries who exploit AI as a potent tool for deception and fraud. As we traverse the ever-evolving landscape of financial technology, it becomes imperative to dissect the intricacies of AI-driven scams and frauds. By shedding light on these complexities, we can pave the way toward building resilience and fortifying security measures within our financial systems.

AI in Financial Scams and Frauds:

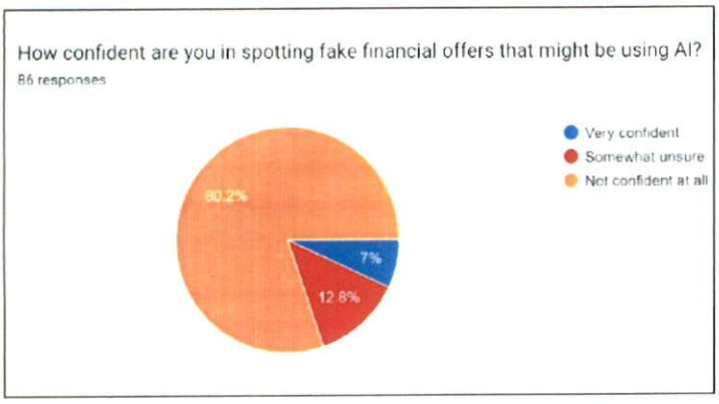

Algorithmic Trading Tricks: Automated trading systems use AI to manipulate markets for illegal profits. Deceptive C[illegible]ots: AI chatbots pretend to be trustworthy sources to trick people into sharing financial details. Deepfake D[illegible]ption: AI-generated deepfakes create convincing fake videos, used for fraud like impersonating executives. Cryptocurrency Fraud: AI is used to hide illegal activities in cryptocurrency transactions. Credit Scoring Scams: AI-based credit scoring models can be tricked into approving fraudulent loans and credit applications.

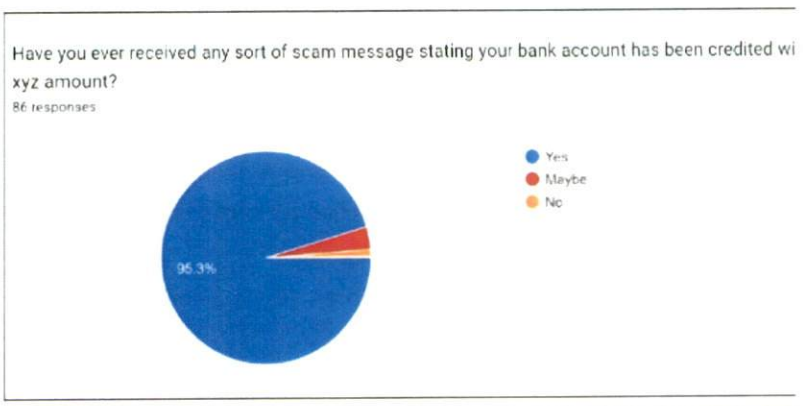

Methodology: Primary Data Based Research

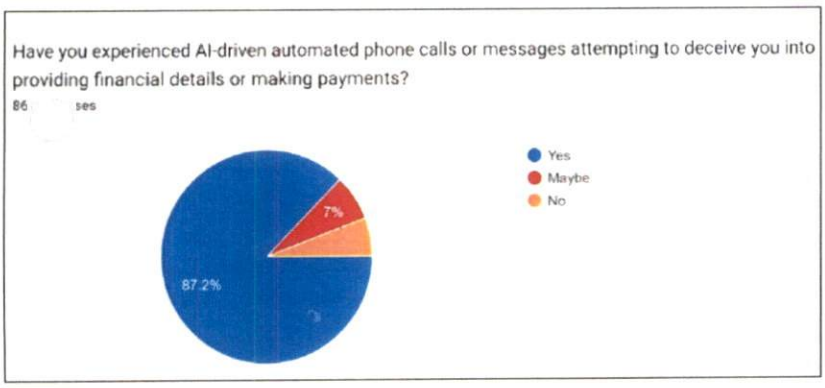

- Structured Survey Administration: Conducting a survey to gather quantitative data on AI financial scams. Focus on frequency and types of scams experienced by respondents.
- Question Types: Utilizing multiple-choice and Likert scale questions in the survey. Capturing data on scam occurrences, perceptions, and responses.
- Qualitative Data Collection: Conducting in-depth interviews or focus group discussions. Obtaining qualitative insights into the nuances of AI financial scams.
- Triangulation: Integrating quantitative and qualitative findings. Enhancing understanding and research validity through cross-validation.

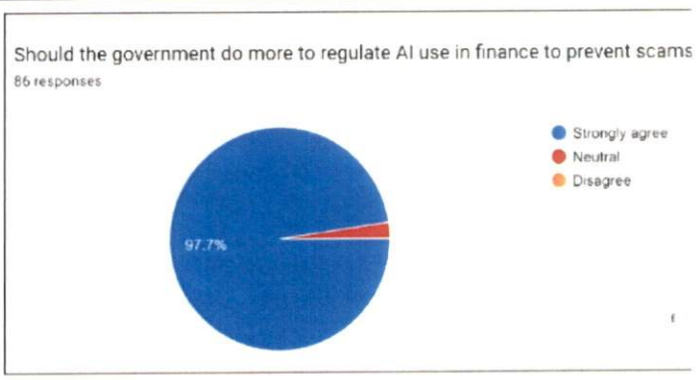

THE S.I.A. COLLEGE OF HIGHER EDUCATION ★ DOMBIVLI

Outcome From Survey:

- Widespread Scam Reports: Many participants report falling victim to AI financial scams, highlighting the pervasive nature of fraudulent activities.

- Trust Issues with Institutions: Participants express diminished trust in financial institutions due to perceived vulnerability to AI-driven scams, impacting overall confidence in the financial system.

  Financial and Emotional Impact: Many respondents report financial losses and emotional distress resulting from AI financial scams, highlighting the real-life consequences of fraudulent activities.

- Hesitation to Embrace Digital Finance: Findings suggest people are hesitant to engage in digital transactions due to fears of falling victim to AI scams, hindering the adoption of digital financial technologies.

- Calls for Stronger Regulation: Participants demand stronger government regulation to combat AI financial scams and hold perpetrators accountable, emphasizing the need for robust preventive measures.

THE S.I.A. COLLEGE OF HIGHER EDUCATION
DOMBIVLI

Innovative Countermeasures:

- Proactive Cybersecurity: Financial institutions use AI-powered systems to detect and stop potential threats before they happen, staying ahead of cyber attacks.
- Specialized Regulatory Framework: Governments establish dedicated regulations specifically targeting AI-driven financial scams and frauds, addressing unique challenges and ensuring comprehensive protection for consumers and businesses in the digital financial landscape.
- Youth Awareness Initiatives: Educational institutions organize awareness seminars and workshops on AI financial scams, empowering students with knowledge and skills to identify and prevent fraudulent activities, equipping them to make informed financial decisions and protect themselves in the digital age.

Conclusion:

In our journey to tackle AI-driven financial scams, staying vigilant, thinking outside the box, and working together are our keys to success. By understanding how AI can be used for fraud, we're better prepared to protect ourselves and our financial systems. Let's keep moving forward, prioritizing resilience and security, and ensuring our financial ecosystem remains strong and safe against new threats.

Report on Video Screening Activity

As the main aim of Foundation Course and Environmental Studies being taught at undergraduate level in the colleges affiliated to Mumbai University is to create awareness among students on general and environmental issues respectively, an interdepartmental activity on video screening was conducted by the Department of Commerce for the students enrolled in different disciplines to aware students on specific issues. The main aim of this activity was to engage students in learning about women empowerment in India and use of bamboo for the development of entrepreneurship by producing various bamboo-based products. The activity was conducted on International Bamboo Day i. e. on 18th September 2023 during 7.20 am to 11.00 am. The video-screening activity was proved to be helpful for the students while understanding the role of self-defence skills in women empowerment. In addition to this, the video clipping on production of bamboo-based eco-friendly items also proved to be helpful in developing an opportunity to execute the concept of green entrepreneurship in view of evolving the business environment in which companies function to foster changes in business practices that affect the social and natural environment. In all 417 students i.e. 255 girls and 162 boys benefited from the activity. The screening activity was followed by a discussion and question-answer session.

Report on Industry expert's lecture on Environmental Audit organized by the Commerce Department of The S.I.A. College of Higher Education, Dombivli (E), in collaboration with Hariyali-NGO

Growing demands for environmental responsibility by governments, scientists and environmental activists are forcing industries to check their compliance with environmental requirements. The increasing concern for the environment has made these demands progressively popular. With this view in mind, an industrial expert lecture on the environmental audit was organized for the students on Saturday, 26 August 2023 at 9.30 am. Mrs. Jaylakshmi Chekkala, Secretary, Hariyali-NGO was present as a resource person. In her lecture, Mrs. Jayalakshmi Madam discussed the need, type and importance of the environmental audit. Initially, she explained the concept of environmental audit. While talking about sustainable development and the need for the same, she gave many examples from various fields of development. She talked about the future consequences of environmental degradation. People may face many health-related issues like early arrival of old age problems. Scarcity of water, desertification, use of synthetic food and generation of trash in large quantity are some of the problems we are facing nowadays she said. There is a need to go for environmental auditing which is a systematic, documented, periodic and objective process in assessing an organization's activities and services to assess compliance with relevant statutory and internal requirements. The lecture was followed by a question-answer session. Dr. Nitinkumar M. Patil delivered a welcome speech and introduced the guest speaker while Dr. Shilpa Malani expressed the vote of thanks. In all 77 students (27 male and 50 female) have attended the lecture.

The wet waste can be used in fertilizing in farming food and vegetables seeds to help farmers for fertilizing and growing organic foods and vegetables instead of using chemical fertilizers.

13	The Event was very helpful to develop our communication skills. My only suggestion is that in the Next event make sure that 2 Mike's are made available one for the participants and one for the host
14	When there was second round and we have to tap to give the answer for that if the our team and opponent team clap at the same time the chance of giving answer is given to according to sequence for example if my team numbers is 20 and opponent is 19 and if we clap at same time then the chance of giving first answer will be given to the opponent team because number 19 come first in compare with number 20. The only thing I didn't like in this one that it gives an unfair advantage to the team who has been alloted number which is prior to the opponent and also there was no time limit in it if only they can set time limit when both the teams clap at the same time it brings a new level of competition for eg. Time limit of 10 second to answer otherwise it will be paas to the opponent team. Otherwise it was awesome ðŸ'.

ABSTRACT

The Internet of Things (IOT) has emerged as a transformative technology, connecting a countless of devices to the internet, enabling real-time collection, and development of automation across various industries. However, the rapid prefiltration of IOT devices has brought forth a multitude of Cyber security challenges that demand immediate attention. This abstract concise overview of the key cyber security challenges in the realm of IOT. IoT devices are characterized by their constrained resources, making them vulnerable to security threats. They often lack robust security features, including secure boot, encryption, and regular firmware updates. As a result, malicious actors can exploit vulnerabilities in these devices, leading to data breaches, privacy infringements, and potential physical harm. The sheer scale of IoT deployments amplifies the risk. As the number of devices increases, so does the attack surface, making it challenging to monitor and protect every device effectively. Inadequate network segmentation, poor authentication mechanisms and weak access controls exacerbate this issue. To address these challenges, a multi-faceted approach is required. This includes developing robust security standards for IoT devices, enhancing device firmware update mechanisms, and promoting industry-wide cooperation to establish best practices. Additionally, user education and awareness are crucial in ensuring that individuals and organizations take proactive steps to secure their IoT environments.
