About the Workshop

The NAAC accreditation process is a major milestone for every college providing quality higher education. The recent amendments in the NAAC accreditation process not only empowers higher educational institutions to undertake robust developments for enhancing the quality but also focuses on all-round development and well being of the learner. The current changes in the NAAC accreditation process has necessitated the institutions to undertake several initiatives to improve quality. It has become imperative for the institutions to blend technology with quality in order to achieve the goals of the accreditation process. In this regard the IQAC cluster India has taken enormous efforts in training and empowering the IQAC members across the country to face the NAAC accreditation process.

The IQAC of the S.I.A College under the guidance of IQAC Cluster India has organised this workshop which will focus on the changes in the new accreditation process and would familiarise the participants on the various criteria and the stages an institution has to undergo before the accreditation process. It would also cover current changes in the NAAC process, IIQA, SSR, SSS and also DVV preparation. This two day workshop will guide you through the process and would provide better insights on Revised NAAC Guidelines.

research paper writing : Author Responsibilities

Preparation and Submission of Manuscripts

- Ensure that work is new and original research
- All Authors are aware of submission and agree with content and support submission
- Agree that the manuscript can be examined by anonymous reviewers.
- Provide copies of related work submitted or published elsewhere
- Obtain copyright permission if figures/tables need to be reproduced
- Include proper affiliation

Data Manipulation

- Violating both basic values and widely accepted professional stds of science
- failure to fulfil all three obligations
- Mislead their colleagues and potentially impede progress in their field or Research
- Deceive others and undermine their own authority and trustworthiness as researchers.
- Misleading data can also arise from poor experimental design or careless measurements as well as from improper manipulation.
- When a mistake appears in a journal article or book, it should be corrected in a note, erratum (for a production error), or Additions / Corrections

Components of a well defined problem

- Unit of Analysis Refers to Source of information - can be an individual, department, organisation or an industry.
- Research variables - is a symbol to which we assign numerical / values

Can be dichotomous variable (male / female) or discrete variable. (of indefinite sets like occupation, age, income, production data ...)

Categories of research variables
Dependent variable (DV)	Independent variable (IV)	Moderating variable (MV)	Intervening variable (IV)	Explanatory variable (EV)

Step 4: Outline of literature review's structure

A rough idea of strategy on various approaches is needed before starting writing

Depending on the length of literature review, several strategies can be combined.

For example, overall structure might be thematic, but each theme is discussed chronologically.

- Chronological : The general approach is to trace the development of the topic over time. However, if this strategy is chosen, care should be taken to avoid simply listing and summarizing studies in order.
- For example Patterns can be analyzed as well. Looking points and key debates that have shaped the direction of the best interpretation might be an hour and sort of critical developments occurred.
- Thematic : If some research is central themes focus, the literature review can be organized into sub-sections that address different aspects of the topic. For example, while reviewing literature about frequency in migrant health outcomes, key themes might include healthcare policy, language barriers, cultural differences, legal status, and economic factors.
- Methodological : If sources are drawn from different disciplines or fields that use a variety of research methods, the results and conclusions that emerge from different approaches can be compared. For example:
- Learning of what returns have emerged in qualitative and quantitative research.
- Distinction on how the topic has been approached in empirical versus theoretical scholarship.
- The literature can be divided into empirical, historical, and cultural sources.
- Historical : A literature review is often the historical set of important literature. Various theories, models, and definitions of key concepts can be discussed.
- The relevance of a specific theoretical approach, or combine various theoretical concepts can be argued to create a perspective for research.
