S.I.A. Tech-Link: Incubation Centre

(Bridging Gap between Academic and Industry)

The SIA Techlink is an incubation centre of the college, which tries to bridge the gap between academics and industry. The SIA Techlink helps both teachers and students to upgrade and update themselves by creating software that can be implemented and used in a live environment; and required changes or modifications can be made in coding periodically to make the software adaptable. SIA TechLink provides opportunity for the students to get hands on experience and involve them in various projects.

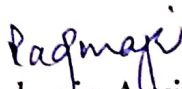

In addition to giving them hands-on experience, these projects make the student employment ready. The students get to learn coding, debugging and work real time and the learning from here can be translated into their job.

Software successfully developed and implemented by faculty members and students 2021-22
